Nutritional Support for Prostate and Men's Health

Benign Prostatic Hyperplasia, or BPH, is a non-cancerous enlargement of the prostate gland in men. BPH symptoms include: decreased urine flow, hesitancy or urgency to urinate, getting up many times at night to urinate, incomplete emptying of bladder, etc. Only a physician can diagnose this condition and rule out more serious problems, including prostate cancer. There are currently at least three medications that doctors use to treat BPH, and all have serious side effects. Flomax®, Proscar® and Avodart® had total sales in the billions of dollars last year. They are highly marketed on TV and print ads, and, even though they mention serious side effects, men still ask their doctors to try them. Side effects include: dizziness, fainting, reduced sperm count, fatigue and for one, you can't donate blood for six months after stopping the drug, due to the potential of birth defects. Women are told not to handle the pills, due to the same risk of birth defects. So, if a man is told by his doctor that he has BPH, what is he to do? Try the natural approach with Prostalo™, by ChemStar Formulations. BPH is caused when the male hormone, testosterone, is converted into a compound called dihydrotestosterone, or DHT. This conversion happens due to an enzyme, called 5-alpha-reductase. All the above medications work by blocking that enzyme. They are 5-alpha-reductase inhibitors. The bad news is that those medications have the side effects. The good news is that our Prostalo™ formula contains several natural compounds that act like natural 5-alpha-reductase inhibitors. These include saw palmetto, zinc, B6, pumpkin seed powder and three special amino acids: alanine, glycine and glutamic acid. In our clinical setting, this prostate formula has shown better results for men with BPH than any other formula we've tested. The suggested dosage is 2 tablets, twice daily and most men begin to feel results within 6-8 weeks.

V-Gor Plus™ contains a combination of natural formulas and botanicals that have been shown to increase sex drive in men and has even helped some men who complain of symptoms linked to erectile dysfunction or ED. There may be medical causes for this condition that should be checked with a physician, but in our clinical setting, men report taking this supplement as directed improved overall sexual function.

Directions: Adult males can take 2-4 capsules, 30-60 minutes before sexual activity. To try any of our formulas or find out more information, call or go online with the information below:
